Brave New Century

The Tears

The pages burn, the babies scream
And lovers text in Japanese
The more you give, the more they need
The more you live, the less you seeReligion breeds like a disease
More people spit on refugees
(can't get in with immigration)
The more you live, the less you see
The more you give, the more they need
In this brave new centurySo mother where do I belong?
And mother what should I believe?
Look what happened to your son in this brave new century
We sit and choke on magazines
And worship shit celebrities
Lives exposed in publications?The more you give, the more they need
The more you live, the less you see
In this brave new century

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/