

Hail The Sunny Days (MTV Unplugged)

Mando Diao

Share some thoughts for all the pretty people
Bless the gods and all the wealthy fellas
See how they run, see how they try
To give their best for all our beauty They wear dignity like the falling angels
Proper shoes and the velvet trousers
We were tramps and whores who gathered around
Let's shed a tear for those who's crying And there ain't no shame
Everybody's waiting for a sunny day
Everybody gets their shot of being someone
So use your sunny day We're the dirt in the fields you're running
We're the springtime's first carnation
And we are all alone and so we stand
Above you all, the matched creation Let's all sing for our broken future
Let's sing for all the idiots
Who will not share their lands
Their lands of gold and big ideas
We ain't got nothing to live up to And there ain't no shame
Everybody's waiting for a sunny day
Everybody gets their shots of being someone
So use your sunny day And we share our pain
Everybody's waiting for a sunny day
Everybody gets their shot of being someone
So hail the sunny days And there ain't no shame
Everybody's waiting for a sunny day
Everybody gets their shot of being someone
So hail your sunny day And we share our pain
Everybody's waiting for a sunny day
Everybody gets their shot of being someone
So hail the sunny days You gotta hail your sunny days
You gotta hail your sunny days

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>