

The Weight of the World

Desiderii Marginis

Keep a light on those you love
They will be there when you die
 Baby, there's no need to fear
 Baby, there's no need to cry
 Every little piece in your life
 Will add up to one
 Every little piece in your life
Well, it means something to someone
 You've fused my broken bones
 Back together and then
 Lift the weight of the world
 From my shoulders again
 Every little piece in your life
 Will add up to one
 Every little piece in your life
It will mean something to someone
 Every little piece in your life
 Will add up to one
 Every little piece of your life

Will mean something to someone
 You touch my face
 Scarred with spurs in my ear
 There are tears in my eyes
 Love replaces fear
 Touch my face
 Scarred with spurs in my ear
 There are tears in my eyes
 Love replaces fear, fear
 Every little piece in your life
 Will add up to one
 Every little piece in your life
Will mean something to someone
 Every little piece in your life
 Will add up to one
 Every little piece of your life
Will mean something to someone
