Fire

Jack Garratt

Tell me I'm fire, baby
Tell me to open up
Shield my eyes, baby
They've seen so muchTell me you're mine, baby
Tell me before I erupt
Burn up in the sky, baby
Become the dustI can see no use in
Ignoring your burning heart just to calm mine
It's such a waste of your time
But the view takes every waking thought
I have when daylight comes
To relieve the nightGive me your fire
Give me reasons to learn
Give me every excuse to burn
Let your flames rise
Let your flames riseForget me, you're fire, baby
Leave me 'til I am distilled
And clean as the water, baby
And pour it over my fears, my fearsI can see no use in Ignoring your heaving chest when you cry
It can't be good for your heart
If loving me means every tear
You make will burn your skin
As it leaves your eyeGive me your fire
Give me reasons to learn
Give me every excuse to burn
Let your flames rise
Let your flames rise higher
Too far for you to touch
Too hard is never too much
Let your flames rise
Let your flames
Give me your fire
Give me reasons to learn
Give me every excuse to burn
Let your flames rise
Let your flames rise higher
Too far for you to touch
Too hard is never too much

Let your flames rise
Let your flames rise higherI can feel the darkness in me
No monster only disaster waiting to be
Set fire to and set free
From my anatomy
But I can feel the warmth from your heart
To fight a fire with fire will make the darkness depart
So come a little closer and end my melody
I can feel the darkness in me
No monster only a disaster waiting to be
Set fire to and set free
From my anatomy
But I can feel the warmth from your heart
To fight a fire with fire will make the darkness depart
So come a little closer and end my melodyGive me your fire (I can feel the darkness in me)
Give me reasons to learn (on the edges are still awaiting to be)
Give me every excuse to burn (set fire to and set free)
Let your flames rise (from my anatomy me)
Let your flames rise higher (but I can feel the warmth from your heart)
Too far for you to touch (to fight a fire with fire will make the darkness depart)
Too hard is never too much (so come a little closer and end my melody)

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/