

Inner Sanctum

Narnia

I've been foolin' around away for a long time
Living my life with my own rules once again - Oh no!

    My storybook is full of colours
    Memories of my dark past are coming back
    Dark desires all over the place
        Lock up the door
        To my secret room
        I'm caught in the middle
        Feel I'm starting to slide
        Open up my eyes
    So I can see, so I can breath, yeah!

    I'm not a hero
    Just a simple man
    I am stumbling and falling
    I need someone to lean on
    Someone to solve my problems now
    Strange dreams are following me
    Wake me up from this nightmare
    I don't want more sleepless nights
        Lock up the door
        To my secret room
        I feel like a stranger
        Like a stranger to myself
        Open up my eyes
    So I can see, so I can breath, yeah!

    I'm not a hero
    Just a simple man
    Inner sanctum of my soul
    Only you know my secret room
        Inner sanctum of my soul
        Only you can see my reality
        I see commercials on the TV
        Promise me a life in luxury
        Take away all this stupid crap
        I want a life of quality
    I need some rest for my tired body & soul