

To Think That I Once Loved You

The Drones

The sun's giving way
And the last of it's shade's
Grown as long
As the ache that you gave me
You said nothing's perfect
Though you came pretty close
But then time's made the
Most of you lately
Only now you feel more
Like you're up for the cause
Like you've had second thoughts
And your heart's lost its thrust
You're marooned on the moon
And you need livening up
But why come back for me
I ain't no great beauty
Well I guess you've got time on your hands
It ain't no big deal me
Being lost at sea
'Til you start losing blood on the sand
To think I
To think that I once loved you
To think I
To think that I once loved you
I know that corridor
Where your nerves pave the floor
And the walls waterfall
All around you
You're all made outta glue
Just a residue
And I've taken your place
And I'm feeling brand new
Yeah right nothing here's perfect
I am totally sold
I've been dragged 'cross the coals
A lot lately
I don't wanna ruin your fun
But you got your refund
And now I'm paid to make rain
Where you burnt me
To think I
To think that I once loved you
To think I
To think that I once loved you

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>