

Arms

Tunng

In your veins, the bed slips away
Bricks dissolve and the walls get thin
In your arms, I see through my skin
My organs flow and the candles glow

In your bones, the sound of the rain
Soothes something in my darkest heart
Visceral thing, intangible song
Things I know seem to fall away

Here I go again
Here I go again

In your brain, lights creep to my eyes
Stars get stuck in my swollen throat
You're on fire and not getting close
Adventure ride, and the world pours in

Here I go again
Here I go again
