Misunderstood

Mest

I know you're not exactly crazy
About the way I have been lately
And I don't know when I should say
All the things I want to say'Cause I know that it would hurt you
And I don't want that
'Cause after all the things we've been through
You deserve much more than thatCompletely, overwhelming
Stories that you've heard, when people tell you that Don't trust him, he's pretending that he cares for you
Even though there's nothing left to proveI like to see just what is coming Another argument worth nothing
And believe me when I tell you
Another fight I won't go through'Cause I know that it would hurt you
And I don't want that
'Cause after all the pain you've been through
You deserve much more than thatCompletely, overwhelming
Stories that you've heard, people tell you that
Don't trust him, he's pretending that he cares for you
Even though there's nothing left to prove(I won't hear anything that you say to me)
I won't hear anything that you say to me
(That you say)Completely, overwhelming
Stories that you've heard, the people tell you that Don't trust him, he's just pretending that he cares for you
Even if I did those stories would be true

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/