Just a Man

Los Lobos

Just a man - made of blood and bone
Thrown away - all that was once my ownOld and worn - and tired too
Of cold so cold - and blue so blueEndless love - washed away in the sand
Too much to lose - for just a manIn my time - never had my fill
Of broken hearts - for just a thrillLetting my love - run through my hands
Too much to lose - for just a manDon't put too many Cards on this hard-headed man
Take whatever is yours
And get as far away as you canNo gret clouds - lined with silver and gold
No little boy - to watch me grow oldI play the game - as I know I can
So much to lose - for just a manSo much to ache - so much to break
Too much at stake - for just a man

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/