The Only One

Darren Hayes

In a world so cynical
You came in and changed the ball
From black to white
And made me right
This is all a typical
No one else has had the time
To read the signs
You are the only one
No one else can keep me from
The danger of myself
You keep me stronger
You are the only one
And now I love you even more
Than I did before
I've got such a jealous side
Reaching out
I try to hide
My infant stride
And in my mind
This is all so prototype
Make it wrong to make it feel right
Don't deny it
'Cause you are the only one

No one can keep me from
The danger I possess
You keep me stronger
You are the only one
And now I love you even more
Than I did before
And when they make the call
For one last drink
When myself is dancing below
And when no one knows it
When the colors all collide inside
Well, I can barely hide
You are the only one
No one else can keep me from
The danger of myself

You keep me stronger
You are the only one
And now I love you even more
There is no other
No one else I place above you
You are the only one
And now I love you even more
Than I did before
