All Men Taste Hell

Ramp

All we are created
Created with ambitions
So different ways are taken by Different life submissionsFreedom, career, money, priden
Human relations, family life
Crossroads positions we choose and try
But still we all have liesAll men taste hell
All men taste this hellStill living for ideals
We slip away through time
For something we give ourselves
But something we leave behindAll men taste hell
All men taste this hellThis hellBalance
We all search for Frustration
We're all slaves ofAll men taste hell
All men taste this hellThis hell2. own wayWake up man don't be afraid
Of the story of your life
See all these things we do
Do you think they're right?!Think
There's a time for us to learn
To approach, to imitate
But there's a time to build
A way we can createFacing one more day
Where everything seems so grey
You pay the price you have to pay
Fighting for your own wayTake it out from yourself
Face this truth you have to fight
Grab your future in your hand
Turn it into something brightScream it out and be yourself
Proud within your own beliefs
And never ever stop to think
That you can't reach your deepest dreamsFacing one more day
Where everything seems so grey
You pay the price you have to pay
Fighting for your own wayOur own wayI do believe in my own way
In steps I take among these days
So you don't care if people stare
We can't all say what we all sayEach one should have his own waySo I leave you with this tale
For you to carry on

Just think about this questions
We're living onThere's so much yet to find
To discover to combine
Just have an open view
An open mindStill...
Facing one more day
Where everything seems so grey
You pay the price you have to pay
Fighting for your own way

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/