

You Stole the Sun From My Heart

James Dean Bradfield

Drinking water to stay thin
Or is it to purify, I love you all the same
But there's no, no real truce with my fury
You don't have to believe me, I love you all the same
But you stole the sun from my heart
You stole the sun from my heart
Oh, you stole the sun from my heart
You stole the sun from, you stole the sun from, oh
You have broken through my armor
And I don't have an answer, I, I love you all the same
I paint the things I wanna see
But it don't come easy, I, I love you all the same
But you stole the sun from my heart
You stole the sun from my heart
Oh, you stole the sun from my heart
You stole the sun from, you stole the sun from, oh
Think I'm, I'm lost among the undergrowth
So much so I woke up by, I love you all the same
But you stole the sun from my heart
You stole the sun from my
Oh, you stole the sun from my heart
You stole the sun from, you stole the sun from, oh
I have, I've got to stop smiling
It gives the wrong impression, I, I love you all the same

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>