The Mindmaker

Soilwork

Who dares to care when affection's all we need?
Who dares to bare what the others have to feel?
I put my trust in a prominent machine
Feel no pain and don't you dare to make a scene, no
The search for truth's just moving' on Everybody want a priest
Denying the sound of a restless soul
Keep your eye on where you've gone
I don't think that you belong
Escaping reality won't set your judgment free
Who'll hide to find the ultimate belief?
Who'll ride the kind of perpetual disease?
I thought that still every breath I take is free
I was so wrong they'll make a profit out of me
When you've lost your power
You drag yourself down in times like these
You are here to devour
Now you feel so numb
Who dares to care when affection's all we need?
Who dares to bare what the others have to feel?

I put my trust in a prominent machine
Feel no pain and don't you dare to make a scene
When you've lost your power
You drag yourself down in times like these
You are here to devour
God, I feel so numb
So eternal, cold infernal, so dispersal
One more time
So eternal, cold infernal, so dispersal
It rules your mind
When you've lost your power
You drag yourself down in times like these
You are here to devour
Now you feel so numb
When you've lost your power
You drag yourself down in times like these
You are here to devour
Now you feel so numb

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/