

Prague

Blaenavon

And theyâ€™ll steal your souls
And turn them into gold
Oh the villagerâ€™s moans
Make cities out of homes

Itâ€™s you, I said
You keep running through my head
I swear itâ€™s so

Longing for the world
The innocence of the child
The end of the trials
And the start of the crimes

But these blood red skies
Cover my eyes
From the sleepless nights
And a haunted life

But itâ€™s you who I said
You keep running through my head
I swear itâ€™s so
But itâ€™s you who I said
You keep running through my head
I swear itâ€™s so

Cause there are voices in my head
People screaming youâ€™re not dead
Iâ€™m not sure
Thereâ€™s kingdoms in my veins
Lines playing childrenâ€™s games
Itâ€™s all so obscure

But itâ€™s you who I said
You keep running through my head
I swear itâ€™s all
But itâ€™s you who I said
You keep running through my head
I swear itâ€™s so

There are voices in my head
People screaming youâ€™re not dead
Iâ€™m not so sure
Thereâ€™s kingdoms in my veins
Lines playing childrenâ€™s games
Itâ€™s all so obscure

But itâ€™s you who I said
You keep running through my head
I swear itâ€™s so
But itâ€™s you who I said
You keep running through my head
I swear itâ€™s so
