Sad, Sad Girl

Greg Trooper

She's a sad, sad girl
A sad, sad, girl
She don't try to fight it
Won't try to hide it
A sad, sad, girlWas it always so?
Did her heart start that low?
Did she always believe
Love always deceives?
Was it always so?No matter what you do
She'll pay no mind to you
To make her know you care
Is futile as a prayerShe's a mining town
After the mine's shut down
Coal turned to diamonds
She won't let you find them
She's a mining townOnce in a long, long while
She might attempt a smile
But it works in reverse
She starts to hurt even worseSad, sad, girl
In a sad, sad, world
She won't try to fight it
Won't try to hide it
A sad, sad, girl
