

While You Were Waiting

Samiam

Get off the tracks, always the same things on your mind
Everything that you deserve, and how you've been denied it
 You want it all so bad, no matter what you have
 Can't be satisfied, with anything less than more[Chorus]
Think you've made it, close your eyes, and open up your hands
While you were waiting, someone left footprints in your back
 Your white leather couch is with that wallet full of cash
 And gold plated egos shine up nicely with some class
 Don't care how you get it, and you might regret it
As soon as things get brighter, you cram your head right up your ass[Chorus: x2]
 You want to be the one that does the telling what to do
 So people like yourself will wish that they were you
 You want it all so bad, no matter what you have
Can't be satisfied with anything less than more[Chorus: x2]
