

Remember a Time

Story of the Year

Can we open the pages
To remember a time
When the images focused
And the planets were aligned
All the stars up above us
Let us travel through time
They erase all the distance
Separating you and I
Now this glass will get me through the night
As the storm blows over
I know it'll be all right
It's no surprise
That the feeling has changed
And the years have slipped away
Through the hands of time
Open your eyes
Cause that promise we made
That our light would never fade
It'll never die
In the light of the morning
In the dark of the night
We were balancing moments
On the thin edge of a knife
Can we dig up forgiveness
Will we bury the lies
Can we fill all the voids left by the hardest of goodbyes
It's no surprise
That the feeling has changed
And the years have slipped away
Through the hands of time
Open your eyes
Cause that promise we made
That our light would never fade
Will never die
Never die
