Fine in the Family

Desperate Journalist

I was feeling so interesting, that t-shirt fits me so well
I was feeling so interesting, I simply couldn't help myself
Empty gesturing, here comes the next big thing

And the tones reverberated round the vacated halls
And you thought that you were jaded but here's your reward
And it's only really dated if it makes you feel small
And you thought that you were jaded, well here's your reward

Well it's fine in the family and evÐµryone's doing so well
I said it's fine in thÐµ family and everyone's doing so well
I was just wondering if we could perhaps maybe try something else
I was just wondering if we could ever know anything else

And the earth has just rotated for the seventeenth time
And the photocopy's faded but I'm still on the line
And the world is overrated, for the seventeenth time
And I looked through all the pages and mediocrity is fine
