

So Real

Candlebox

Breathe in
Are you the one about to crash it all?
You take another hit in time, you'll fall all the way
Summertime sidelines
Well, you're the one about to crash it all
And you're the one who likes to blame us all, consider this
Alright, you're the one fading baby
You're the one fading baby
Fading baby, fading baby, fading
My life, well everyone's taking stock in me
And everyone listens so faithfully to hear what's right from wrong
It's all they'll ever know
Alright, you're the one fading baby
Well, you're the one fading baby
Fading baby, fading baby, fading
If I ever want to take my chance again, it's life, oh no
If I ever want to take my chance again, again
So real, oh baby, you're so real
Oh baby, you're so real, oh baby, you're so real
Alright life well everyone serves themselves, you'll see
As hungry as you are to cash in on me
You'll be left in the cold now
Fading, if I ever want to take my chance again, it's life, oh no
If I ever want to take my chance again, again
So real, oh baby you're so real
Oh baby, you're so real, oh baby, you're so real
Find your own life, live, it's far too hard to be alone
These lines you cross, they won't hinder me at all
I feel alive, graced beside, I owe all I loathe in you
Baby, you're so real
If I ever want to take my chance again
Baby, you're so real
If I ever want to take my chance again, again
So real

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>