Don't Forget

Dionysus

You're running to me with a smiling face I look at you thoughts are hitting me how could I ever think that it was right to justify my state of insanitySo I close my eyes and thanking all the gods that I opened up my mind and realized that some things are meant to be So don't forget who I am and that I always will be there and try to do the best that I can to be some one that you can rely on when life seams to fall apart.
So what ever happened to you ... don't forget.
I know that I wanted to run away and that I painted my world all in black Could only see the picture of myself standing there with nothing by broken dreams I cant ask for understanding cause I know that what I tried so hard to get away from then now couldn't live without Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/