Confession

Miss Derringer

I have learned my lesson,
this is my confession,
and you'll never hear it from me again.

I am a liar, a cheater and denier.
I've turned my back on all my family and friends
All the hurt that I have done,
all the tales that I have spun,
all the times they cried to make me smile.

So let's have another drink,
and tell each other what we really think,
cause the sun won't, be coming up for a while.

And I know there ain't no, place for me,
in good God's graces and his, company.
But hope that, doesn't mean,
I can't be something good for somebody.

I have learned my lesson,
this is my confession,
and you'll never hear it from me again.

And I know there ain't no, place for me,
in good God's graces and his, company.
But hope that, doesn't mean,
I can't be something good for somebody.

Lyrics submitted by Ashley.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/