Lust 'N' Love

Stray Cats

The wind is blowin' beer cans down a cold deserted street
I feel as empty as those beer cans rollin' past my feet
I can hear Chicago blues from an out of tune guitar
And a 1939 neon sign buzzin' above the barI'm at an intersection lost my direction and
I don't know which way to goShe left me on the corner of lust 'n' love
Left me on the corner of lust 'n' love
Left me on the corner of lust 'n' love
She left me on the corner of lust 'n' loveI got an old tattoo dedicated to you covered up with thorns
But the heart bleeds through and your name does too forever on my arm
Each night I go walkin' through the darkness all alone
But I never get of that dirty old street no matter how far I roamIntersection lost my direction and
I don't know which way to goShe left me on the corner of lust 'n' love
Left me on the corner of lust 'n' love
Left me on the corner of lust 'n' love
She left me on the corner of lust 'n' loveUnderneath the street light, I strain my eyes to see
The silhouettes reflection of a long black mercury
Shadows on the pavement from the corners of my eye
Fool me into thinkin' my baby's passin' byIntersection lost my direction and
I don't know which way to goShe left me on the corner of lust 'n' love
You're the only one I've been thinkin' of
Left me on the corner of lust 'n' love
Left me on the corner of lust 'n' loveShe left me on the corner of lust 'n' love
Left me on the corner of lust 'n' love, yeah
Left me on the corner of lust 'n' love
