No More

Josh Wilson

Oh I know it all to well
Every inch inside this cell
I'm a prisoner of the choices I regret
The debts already paid
And the bails already made
So why do I keep coming back again?
God I'm done with holding on To sins that you have saved me from I'm ready to let go of who I've beenNo more guilt, no more shame
no more thinking I can't change
Who I was is dead and gone who I am is moving on Saved by grace held by love because of what your cross has done
You pulled away the prison doors
Hallelujah God
I am condemned no more
I am condemned no moreSo I step out of the night into your burning light Where my past and all its shadows disappear
You say that I am yours forever
You call me saint instead of sinnerNo more guilt, no more shame
no more thinking I can't change
Who I was is dead and gone
who I am is moving on
You pulled away the prison doors
Hallelujah God
I am condemned no more
I am condemned no moreMelt the clouds of sin and sadness
Drive the dark doubt away
Melt the clouds of sin and sadness Fill me with the light of dayNo more guilt, no more shame
no more thinking I can't change
Who I was is dead and gone
who I am is moving on
You pulled away the prison doors
Hallelujah God
I am condemned no more
