

Sweet Relief

Kamchatka

We've got a mission.
To conquer everything,
so that there'll be no one left to question us.
No more adaption.
At least not from our part.
This is not a time to be ambiguous. Soon there'll be no more precautions to take.
Soon there'll be nothing to fear.
Can't we all taste the sweet relief? No more admonitions.
Our tools need sharpening.
We need no longer be abstemious.
Since no opposition visible on the chart is remotely strong enough to pose a threat to us. Soon there'll be no more precautions to take.
Soon there'll be nothing to fear.
Can't we all taste the sweet relief?
