Responsible

H2O

Am I responsible for what I think and feel? Is there a model I could never be? Am I depending on you to show? To say, to tell me what to doBecause I think, I say It helps me find a way To voice my opinion without this shit And I know, I try to read between the lines 'Cause some truth may lie there waiting, but I won't won't sit back and let it happen I will stand up, I won't sit back And watch the tables turn Is this the lesson that we've all got to learnHow can a person really know? And set a path for me to follow Reality devoid of truth can only represent The concrete proof that I need to hear It tells me what to fear To voice my opinion without this shit And I know, I try to read between the lines

'Cause some truth may lie there waiting, but I won't I won't sit back and let it happen
I will stand up, I won't sit back
And watch the tables turn
Is this the lesson that we've all got to learn
Am I responsible? I am responsible
