Hold your head up high

Nomy

You said you're just one in the crowd but your laughter is way too loud you fill the darkest room with lightyour life is complicated too but you know just what to do the light you give is not in youhold your head up high and this pain will die somehow somewhere just tryYou're living in the dark where no one can see your tears but hold your head up highcan you tell me that I'm wrong don't keep your broken heart too long deep inside you're growing stronglook beyond your life today can you see yourself this way when the winter cold is gone?hold your head up high and this pain will die somehow somewhere just tryYou're living in the dark where no one can see your tears but hold your head up highhold your head up high and this pain will die somehow somewhere just tryYour living in the dark where no one can see your tears but hold your head up high

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/