Remnants

NOFX

Wasting your life on the sidewalk When you can be out on the street, dodging cars As they go by, the wind goes right through youLife on the edge of a razor Never knowing when you're to fall Sure as hell beats never gambling at allLife's too short to just barely exist Wide spread mediocracy Will suck you up, resist Another number on a listI don't want it, you can have it You can try, but you won't make me Feel the things you feel I'll take my chances, till I find a better deal I'll take my chances, along with all the restThe snail goes over the razor blade The suicide squad of lemmings parade To their kingdom, where they've made reservationsI have no reservation I don't think my seat's been saved I'll take my chances, here, right
