The Same Deep Water As You

The Cure

Kiss me goodbye pushing out before I sleep Can't you see I try swimming the same deep water as you is hard The shallow drowned lose less than we You breathe the strangest twist upon your lipsAnd we shall be together Kiss me goodbye bow your head and join with me And face pushed deep reflections meet The strangest twist upon your lipsAnd disappear the ripples clear And laughing break against your feet And laughing break the mirror sweet So we shall be together Kiss me goodbye pushing out before I sleep It's lower now and slower now The strangest twist upon your lips But I don't see and I don't feelBut tightly hold up silently My hands before my fading eyes And in my eyes your smile The very last thing before I goI will kiss you, I will kiss you I will kiss you forever on nights like this I will kiss you, I will kiss you And we shall be together
