

All Rise

Wovenwar

Ooh, you feel the hunter's gaze
A shadow even in the dark
Masking me your early grave

It's gonna leave you dead or dying
Draining all your blood and quakes
You never thought you'd need me for the market
What do you expect when you sold your name

You have the chance to rise again
To cast the life that hearts will bend
You have the chance to be a man
To rise again (x2)
You have the chance to be a man

Ooh, encouraged and you told
You faced down the would be masses
You break the tires that bound your coals

This is going to be the moment
The blood waits to fill your face
Stand tall when you scream to fight it
Become your own safe

You have the chance to rise again
To cast the life that hearts will bend
You have the chance to be a man
To rise again (x2)
You have the chance to be a man
