

Paranoia

Apoptygma Berzerk

Chew the pill that tastes like hell, but gives you strength Embrace the drug that makes you mad, cause still it turns you into something else Feel the need for love grows stronger Swap your mind for a mirror-search, and shake until the break of day One day you'll realize that you were wrong And you'll regret that all this happened, did it (all) happen? Some day you'll realize that you were wrong (You'll be) left with paranoia (,as your only friend) Your mind is full of enemies, the room is full of energies that want to take control They're all around you, and you're all alone Your mind is full of enemies, the room is full of energies haunting your soul They're all around you, and you're on your own One day you'll realize that you were wrong You'll regret that all this happened Some day you'll realize that you were wrong To be left with Paranoia
