

A Smile

Hootie & The Blowfish

They pulled the switch that sent me far
 Into the rich and distant stars
 Bounced me back into your car
 Returning with a smile
 Constantly in rotation
 An astronaut on the radio station
 Passing on that sweet sensation
 If only for a while
A smile finally saved me, found me and repaid me
 For all the time that I've put in
 And now I'm smiling back again
 Just smile for a while
 We've just begun to smile
 A canyon cracks a smile at me
 As I pass at 80,000 feet
Revolving only to receive America , America
 Please be free, be a part of me
 We need unilateral harmony
 Something that will help us be
 Better than before
A smile finally saved me, found me and repaid me
 For all the time that I've put in
 And now I'm smiling back again
 Just smile for a while
 We've just begun to smile
 As I wonder through
 It's all right in front of you
 Every moment matters in the end
 Smile at what used to be
 The glory and the agony
 Smile at a memory
 Smile at your enemies, yeah
A smile finally saved me, found me and repaid me
 For all the time that I've put in
 And now I'm smiling back again
 Just smile for a while
 We've just begun to smile
 Smile for a while
