

American Beauty

Drew Holcomb

She was a good companion, eyes like the Grand Canyon
She was an American Beauty
She was a long goodbye
She was the best I lived by
She was an American Beauty With the wayfarers on in the summer sun
Her touch felt like a loaded gun
Wish I had held her longer
Wish I had held her longer A gorgeous vagabond, she was sweet but she was strong
She was an American Beauty
She was deja vu
She was a catch-22
She was an American Beauty Her blue eyes shinned in the summer sun
Her kiss felt like a loaded gun
Wish I had held her longer
Wish I had held her longer Goodbye came like a the morning sun
She fired shots from a loaded gun
Wish I had held her longer
Wish I had held her longer She was a good companion, eyes like the Grand Canyon
She was an American Beauty
