Cressida

Cressida

In the dark and lonely hours of my time
Silver grey apostles on my mind
Breaching paraboles that all lose down the line
Drowned by ignominy, mankindHeaven's red and angry, turn the key
Lock the door of understanding on me
Punishment belts out bitterly
Unfurl on those who try to seeSilently we are bursting out
Only talking but we want to shout
Must tell the people what it's all about
Must tell the people what it's all aboutAll... my... life... I see...
