All That We Have

Killswitch Engage

When will this end
Cast into a well of uncertainty
Contemplating all that dwells within you
When will this end
It's coming to the surface now
Stare down the throat of consequences
A lesson learned in life
Cast off the burdens
That plague your mind
No one can understand
Behind the silence within you
Something has got to give
Forgiveness is all we have,
Wounds will heal as time goes on
Nothing else will give you a peace of mind
Years spent holding onto anger and hatred
The feeling that things will never change

It eats you up inside,
Thinking that no one could ever understand, all the pain that you hide
Your burdens serve to hold you down
Forgiveness is all we have,
Are you willing to just let go?
Nothing else will give you a peace of mind
You can't blame yourself
You can't hold on thinking that you're the only one
You cannot hide, you cannot run from what's been said and done
Forgiveness is all we have,
Wounds will heal as time goes on
Nothing else will give you a peace of mind
Are you willing to just let go?
Nothing else will give you a peace of mind
Behind the silence, let all your anger go to find a peace of mind
