Dancing In the Rain

Hilary Weeks

It clouded over on Monday morning
And I had hoped to wake up to sunshine
Come Tuesday I think I felt it
A little raindrop on top of my head
On Wednesday no mistakin it
By Thursday no escaping it
The storm had rolled in
I thought about going back to bed
Or reading the book on my nightstand
I considered calling the weather man
Just to ask him when it might end
But I did something you would not have thought
I grabbed my polka dot umbrella
And I opened the door
And I danced
In the rain
I let my dreams know I hadnt forgotten them
I let my heart take the lead and I told my hopes
To get themselves up again
And I danced (to the music of the day)
And I looked (for the blue above the gray)
Yes I danced
In the rain
I invited my worries to step aside
I need room to see in front of me
As the raindrops fell on my overcoat
I let them roll right off of my back
And I waited for the rainbow
Cause Heaven and me, we both know
This storm is gonna pass
Chorus
I danced till my fears washed away
Then I thanked rain for comingtoday
