Say Goodbye

Tommy Lee

I'm staring down this empty street And it's cold but I am walking To the place where all roads meet And it's just the past and me A tattoo and a scar and the man in the TVEvery time I walk away, I see a picture of a face It's a photograph that makes me wonder why And now I stand here on my own and I'm finally letting go It's time to say goodbyeSo, down this road I travel now Pass broken buildings where I look for truth Or were they true to me? No Every step is stepped with doubt But still I walk here trying to find some peace Will I find peace? Every time I walk away, I see a picture of a face It's a photograph that makes me wonder why And now I stand here on my own and I'm finally letting go It's time to say goodbyeNothing's gonna stand in my way No, nothing, no nothing will stand in my way Nothing's gonna stand in my way, yeah, heyEvery time I walk away, I see a picture of a face It's a photograph that makes me wonder why And now I stand here on my own and I'm finally letting go It's time to say goodbyeEvery time I walk away, I see a picture of a face It's a photograph that makes me wonder why
