Scarred

H2O

Once again you find yourself alone without a cause
Still the same bad habits but you haven't paid the cost
Still searching for the seed that grew into your need
That's who you are, don't hide the scarNow you look around for sympathy
Your life's a fucking mess and she can't look into your eyes
And never hate to guess, she's looking for a stone
That crushed into your home and you're still wanting to believeThat you can cover up the scar
That's who you are, we see the scar
That's who and what we see the cut
Wear the scar that's who you areThinking back to when, you were a lost and lonely kid
A look back at the tragic and the damage that it did
Still waiting for the day it all just goes away
That's who you are don't hide the scarNow you know the reason why you feel so full of hate
Throw a stone I'm sure you'll hit someone who can relate
And now you know the reason for the way you are
But you're still wanting to believeThat you can cover up the scar
That's who you are, we see the scar
That's who and what we see the cut
Wear the scar that's who you are

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/