

Nightmares

Burning Image

If you could see this other world, what would you feel?
I'll always see that look in their eyes
It's time to go I tried to live a better life, nightmares are real
And no one sees that look in my eyes
It's time to go It seems like I've been here before
Now I can see it
And now I know that look in their eyes
It's time to go They don't see the loss and they don't see the suffering
They don't see the pain and the anger that's in my eyes
What they do see is the damage that they've done to me
They all just stand there and laugh while they watch me die
They all just stand there and laugh while they watch me die
