Darby's Song

Lucero

Little girl you're still far too young
To have a heart that's been so broken
It might seem like you ain't got no one
Well I'm here for youTold your mamma before she died
That I'd stay right by your side
I had to leave for just a little while
But now I'm here for youHardest part there is about dying
Are the ones who get left behind
I know your mamma wouldn't want you crying
So I'm here for youI loved your mamma more than she loved me
When you were born I was far from Tennessee
I came back home to hold you close to me
Now I'm here for youYou're far too precious to lose
I only want what's best for you
And that might not include me
Well I know it's true
I'm here for you
