

Farewell

Blume

My friends: the time has come for us!
Are you ready to leave your certainties?

Say your farewells
And don't look back

We'll sail across the wine dark sea
To reach new shores and new horizons

Don't be scared
We won't fail

And through the gates of space and time

We will survive we'll touch the fire
Of a thousand burning dreams

That shine for us

With the blessing of the gods we'll start
Our journey through raging waves

By the stars

We'll be guided

From wind and rain we'll have no shelter

We'll patiently wait for blue skies

We'll go to where

No one dares

And through the gates of space and time

We will survive we'll touch the fire
Of a thousand burning dreams

That shine for us
