High Horses

The Swell Season

There's a light inside us all It only shines as bright as we are And you've fallen down so low I'm really worried for you, I'm really worried And even on our worst days We were never quite like this We've gone as far as we can go Without crashing At the heart in every fool is the hope you're stupid too And there's this lingering, this lingering feeling That I'm missing something I feel like I'm missing something And even at your worst, babe You were never as bad as this You've gone as far as you can go Without dying
