

Emit Time

Katastrophy Wife

Time time time time time time time
Spending my time
Thinking all the time
Wishing you were mine
Maybe just a headline
Take all my time
If I had a dime
For every single time that wishin' you were mine
Feel so feline
Doing all the time
'Cause I love the crime-crime
Every single crime
Breathe, breathe a heavy sigh
Ask myself
Why oh why, oh why, why, why
When you grow a spine
Give you all my time
Wishing you were
Here and there a white lie
Drinking too much wine
Spitting out the strychnine
Thinking that you were mine
But it's just a big lie
If I am allowed
If I own a next try
Maybe in the next life
Then you'll get the end right
Only for the last night
Looking for a sign that says you're so inclined
To see me through this bind
Looking for a sign
Since you're so inclined to see me through this bind
Love you all the time
If you're so inclined to see me through this bind Time time time time every single time
You're so blind
You'll never see
Never see the Son shine
Stunned by my headlights
Oh I had foresight

If I have a try
Maybe in the next life
We'll get the end right
If only for the last night
Drinking the strychnine
Everytime you were mine
Then you would just hear this
Oh, and I cry inside
If you weren't mine
Got a hold on what it feels like doing all the time
For I love the crime
Crime Crime Crime Crime Crime Crim Crime Crime Crime Crime Crime Feel's so feline
Doing emit time
For I love the crime
And every single time they say
Huh, you, you have to emit time
