In the Summertime

The Rural Alberta Advantage

In the summertime,
I don't know if the stars were aligned.
We'd stumble onto something we would like
And I'm afraid I lost the words tonightAnd in your summer dress, was holding you
But you were holding less
It's not the words, it's the ones you stress
I love you as I love you just don't love me lessAnd once in a while,
I know our hearts beat out of time.
And once in a while,
I know they'll fall back in line.And in the summertime,
I don't know if the stars were aligned
We'd stumble onto something we would like
And I'm afraid I lost the words tonightAnd when we're middle aged,
You tell me I loved you like a renegade
And how I say the things that make you sway.
And mostly told you you did the same.And once in a while,
I know our hearts beat out of time.
And once in a while,
I know they'll fall back in line.Our love is strong.
Our love is strong.
Our love is strong.
While my heart's still pumping blood.
