The Careful Ones

if only ever i'd have known words and lips i'd have sewn and saved for you no song could ever atone for the debt i owe to the god who made you i was lost in fear and doubt fearful doubt but it wasn't as much as your touch and i was found and i'm ashamed to share the word ashamed to share the word love to cover what i feel for youin the moments before time, while god shaped love and light i've known it true that somewhere in those seven days he stumbled upon a "let there" phrase when he thought of youif only ever i had known what it felt to be yours i would have treasured all the pain in this hell of a course all pain has met it's worth now i've held to youif ever god has given fear it was your frame as i drew near and i knew that i have never been alive before here now i've come undone, come undone, come undone
