

Over 50 Club

The Loved Ones

i don't want to go and hear more promises spoken in vain and even free drinks may not numb the pain don't want to watch two unsure more dig a grave i'll stay home all alone just the same oh god i hate this part where cynical starts to grow right over hope but all these broken hearts began just the same and hearts tend to attract the flames i just don't want to go what if this isn't the way it should be?
what if they can't tell they'll want to be free? don't want to watch two unsure more i'll stay home rather than get there and just want to leave are you ready for the thick and thin my friend what's your decision?
or are we following conventions that'll prove to be prisons

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>