Texas Angel

Honeybrowne

Well I'm sitting here all alone
Wondering how you are
And the thoughts of you spin around my head,
Like wheels on a car
And I wish you were beside me dreaming up at the starsWell the times we had together,
Well they just blew me away and I think about your soft green eyes,
Every single day
How my plans for us just seemed to fall, fade into grayI guess I didn't see it coming
How could I have been so blind
And as I cry myself to sleep I wonder
Do I ever cross your mindSo won't you smile for me my Texas angel
It'll be all right
You just lay your head beside me,
Dream of me tonight
And I promise I'll watch over you
'Til the morning lightWell I'm heading back to the west coast,
Looking for my soul
Tryin' to mend the pieces,
Of shattered years before
And the ocean takes my pain away, as it comes rollin' ashoreSo if you see me walking down the street
Baby don't turn away
I just want to see your smiling face,
Looking my way
And I never want to see you go, see you go away.Won't you smile for me my Texas angel
It'll be all right
You just lay your head beside me,
Baby just hold me tight
And I promise I'll watch over you
'Til the morning light
