

Resurrection

HIM

There was a time, when I could breath my life in you
And one by one, your pale fingers started to move
And I touched your face and all life was erased
You smiled like an angel
Falling from the grace We've been slaves to this love from the moment we touched
And keep begging for more of this resurrection
We've been slaves to this love from the moment we touched
And keep begging for more of this resurrection And you kissed my lips with those once cold fingertips
You reached out for me and oh, how you missed
You touched my face and all life was erased
You smiled like an angel
Falling from the grace We've been slaves to this love, from the moment we touched
And keep begging for more of this resurrection
We've been slaves to this love, from the moment we touched
And keep begging for more of this resurrection This resurrection
Of this resurrection
Of this resurrection
Ooh aah aah ohh
Falling from the grace We've been slaves to this love, from the moment we touched
And keep begging for more of this resurrection
We've been slaves to this love, from the moment we touched
And keep begging for more of this resurrection
Of this resurrection, my darling
This resurrection, aah
This resurrection, yea
