

You're Gonna Need a Mountain

Lifeguards

You're gonna need an ocean of guile and pretense of holy smoke of spitfire and eye tricksbut I love you too much to offer advices or feeble assistance to each new resistance this I won'tyou're gonna need a Gris-gris made from the teeth of lions shake impossible mountains from their canyon homesbut I love you enough to hide your stuffed animals the ones that could bite clean through your pillowthis I will I always willyou're gonna need a safe haven but what do I know you thought you might have it but he wont kick it for living 'cause your love is a crutch an interesting rush a volcano dancer a very blue makerthis I know you think that I don't knowyou're gonna need a mountain (fountain?) cosmetic creep
this side and that side I'm not feeling everything but love is so small whatever you grow and vow to the dusk using both handsthis you must this you mustI love you so much I'll give back your animals your maintains and oceans your castles in (and?) creamthis I will this I will I always willyou're gonna need a mountain or a new contact solution for another life of oversight or lose your choice in everything you know this you know

this you know
yeah
yeah this you know
oh this you know
this you know
this you know

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>