

Satellites

Julie Thompson

Safe and sound... carefree
No-one can hurt you, now
You got eyes... fearless
Feet never touch the ground
From the start
You were plain glass
You knew before the part
Looking back
So much that I'd lost
You never stood a chance Satellites sending transmissions
Soft as a whisper
I hear your heart beat all around
Millions of signals fall through the distance
But I receive you clear and loud
You're here, you're here
And now, I know that we are not alone
You're here, you're here
And now, I know that we are not alone
Not alone, not alone, not alone In a ring of colors
You're reaching out today
Feel the heart with thunder
To show you're not afraid Satellites sending transmissions
Soft as a whisper
I hear your heart beat all around
Millions of signals fall through the distance
But I receive you...
Satellites sending transmissions
Soft as a whisper
I hear your heart beat all around
Millions of signals fall through the distance
But I receive you clear and loud
You're here, you're here
And now, I know that we are not alone
You're here, you're here
And now, I know that we are not alone
Not alone, not alone, not alone And now, I know that we are not alone
You're here, you're here
And now, I know that we are not alone
You're here, you're here

And now, I know that we are not alone
You're here, you're here
And now, I know that we are not alone
You're here, you're here
