

When Midnight Sighs

P.M. Dawn

I cry, when midnight sighs
I cry, when midnight sighs If and betting on an if
And if that if might have a chance to survive
It runs in to twelve different ways of existing
Each with capacity to change it's mind The vibe says six, so be six, now it has a clone
That is a bit more feminine
Pondering the pace of what's going down life
And the greeting is, "Oh, it's you again" Now come the images so many images
The painful colors and the bliss like tries
I'm taking notes till the end of theatrics
Then it stops, ends, dies Whatever is whatever, it calculates the karma
And tries to adjust as it inquires what's shaking
But through no eyes
I could see the entity crying I cry, when midnight sighs
I cry, when midnight sighs Let's pretend it's true, no, facade
The vibe says seven, do I look surprised? No
You, you're so disturbing
Anxious tears do these paint my eyes, oh The mysterious fee no one sees
And no one tries, whenever tangible
I'll fall out of love but for now my mind isn't mine
Sporadic advice, never thinks twice But exotic thoughts conclude this frenzy
Pay no no attention to the scars
However bright all the men see is precious you
Immaculate trues, patient lies say, "Prince you're flying", yeah
But through no thoughts, I could see this concept crying I cry, when midnight sighs
I cry, when midnight sighs
I cry, when midnight sighs
I cry, when midnight sighs When midnight sighs, if about to be me it's So the vibe say five
I put on hooves horns and an attitude
And nonchalantly find I'm alive Twelve A.M. I understand
I find the eight, too late, it's gone
But I could see this woman crying
Cussing, crying and carrying on my God I cry, when midnight sighs
I cry, when midnight sighs
I cry, when midnight sighs
I cry, when midnight sighs I cry, when midnight sighs
I cry, when midnight sighs
